Subject: Phone message from Dave Bartsch, Ohio Valley Coal

Dave Bartsch, engineer for Ohio Valley Coal, called at 12:41 pm 2/28/08 and left the following message:

"We had a little slurry incident this morning. Apparently the slurry shifted and we had a little bit go down the decant and down into the creek. It's got the creek turned dark all the way down. So, we made sure everything was shut off and made sure there wasn't any more flow and everything. I pulled a sample, got it sent going to the lab. I'll follow-up w/ a phone call to let you know what happened and what we're going to do to prevent it again. Give me a call if you need me, 740/926-1351X260."
